

Perfecting hybrid working: Collaboration

Hybrid working can make collaboration a challenge. Whether you're battling background noise on video calls, looking for more engaging ways to present media or want to make sure everyone is heard in many-to-many virtual meetings, our Apple-driven solutions provide intuitive, fuss-free answers that work for end users and tech teams alike.

Virtual meeting spaces

Communication is key to every business. Work with our team to expand your current video conferencing capabilities and create virtual meeting spaces, where it's easy for groups to work together. Many-to-many meetings pose the biggest challenge to video conferencing systems, but we can make them work through a combination of specialist software, Apple-centric device management and customised camera, mic, display and control options.

The result? Fewer failures to connect – both technologically and personally – and great quality audio and video no matter how many people need to work together.

Present with ease

We can create meeting spaces that are designed to have a notebook or tablet plugged in, so whoever's presenting is placed right at the heart of the meeting and can take full advantage of the space's capabilities.

We can even provide Apple kits for hybrid office spaces, so any workers that come in have a powerful machine, monitor and all the accessories they need, all compatible and ready to go. And with Jamf's powerful device management software, you can ensure all devices are under your control from the moment they enter the building.

Work together, anywhere

Apple devices are designed to be collaborative, from easy sharing features like AirPlay and AirDrop to cloud-first productivity apps that allow you to collaborate in realtime. Employees can work seamlessly with your existing infrastructure and their favourite apps, from Microsoft 365 to Slack to SAP, it's all ready to go.

What we offer

- Consultancy and solution design Our team work with you to address your needs and goals – no two businesses are the same, and no two solutions should be either.
- Equipment supply We'll handle all the procurement and licensing associated with the project.
- Installation services Every element of your room, installed to the highest standard by our qualified engineers.
- Support services Our experienced technicians will keep everything online and up to date, so your team can keep collaborating.

Hybrid working's here to stay.
But that shouldn't force your team apart.
Start developing your workspace by calling
03332 409 321 or emailing solutions@jigsaw24.com.

Gold
RESELLER

